

Quilters' Retreat 2012

March 11-15

At the Presbyterian Camp on Okoboji

Need a few days to work on your quilt projects but get distracted by cooking, cleaning, and other daily tasks at home? Then we have a deal for you! Come to the Presbyterian Camp on Okoboji for a time to quilt, a time for fellowship, and a time to relax! We will do the cooking! You can work as much or as little as you wish.

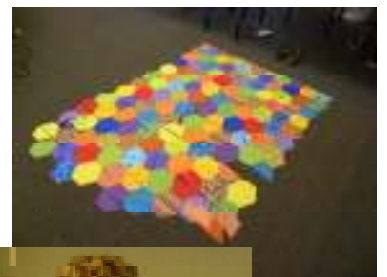

Whether you are a veteran Quilter, are just testing the waters, or want to get started, but don't know how, this weekend is for you.

Check out our website for a quilt pattern that leader Marne Barker will teach participants how to make. Purchase the necessary fabric before coming and plan to work on it here.

This retreat will allow you plenty of time to work on your projects, learn tips and ideas from others, and spend some time meditating on the Word and how we are all stitched together by God's amazing love!

Check In: 3 p.m. Sunday      Departure: 11 a.m. Thursday

Program begins at 5 p.m.
Supper at 6 p.m.

LEADER: Marne Barker

Marne began seriously quilting when her first grandchild was born. Since then she's never without a work in progress. She's a retired nurse, wife of Jim, mother of six, and grandmother of four-teen. Marne loves making scrap or multi-fabric quilts and finds that she saves every little scrap of fabric. Of course, her sewing room looks like it too! She feels that beginning quilters should use good quality fabrics to get the most satisfactory results. Her theory on mistakes is "if it can't be seen 50 feet away on a galloping horse, leave it." Marne has never met a quilter she didn't like--she looks forward to meeting friends at the Presbyterian Camp retreat.
